

Apparo Fast Edit: Data Management with IBM Cognos

Apparo Fast Edit is the web-based application for IBM Cognos which allows for data to be entered, edited, deleted, imported from Excel documents with direct access to your relational database

Application areas:

- Replacement of difficult to maintain Excel applications with Cognos & Apparo. Data maintenance with quality checks, security and auditing - integrated in Cognos Analytics - Excel as database is replaced.
- Mapping of freely definable multi-stage work steps with data input via Excel or web-based, approval/rejection with comments, correction steps - optionally all included in reports or accessible via portal entry.
- Flexible right-controlled commenting of reports and key figures. All user comments and selection values are stored in a database and are available for further processing.
- User-friendly import of large amounts of data directly from Excel via copy & paste or complete Excel files including quality checks

Improved efficiency

- Data management is implemented flexibly & quickly without complex software development
- Simultaneous processing of data & documents across departments and countries possible, depending on access rights - directly in Cognos
- Development of smaller applications incl. logic and networking with other IT systems
- Handling is intuitive - users can work with it immediately

Higher data quality

- Consistency of data: There is now only one single data basis in the database for Cognos reports and documents ("single source of truth"), even if many different departments are working on it in parallel.
- Minimization of input errors: Input masks allow only certain input values and value ranges.

Uniform look & feel

- Apparo Fast Edit fully integrates with IBM Cognos Environment, data input and output have the same optics.

Security

- Apparo Fast Edit protects your data from unauthorized changes. Only defined user groups can change records.
